Brussels, 06/10/2023

Dear colleagues and friends,

We're happy and thrilled to share with you the new edition of our newsletter!

This time it's a special edition one, entirely focused on sharing with you what's on the plate for our upcoming 2023 ENCATC Congress, taking place on 11-13 October in Helsinki, Finland, and titled "Artificial Intelligence Embraced: the future of the cultural and creative sector". At the Congress, we will discover the latest advances in the field and engage in fruitful discussions on the ways in which AI may be adopted in our research and practice, imagining together new possibilities for the future of our sector.

We cannot wait to delve with participants into our articulate agenda, contributing to the advancement of our sector and creating concrete impact in cultural management and policy theory, education, research and practice. We are especially happy and proud about the impressive turnout that this Congress is going to have, having registered a record number of participants who are going to join us in Helsinki and online from all corners of the world.

Inside the newsletter, you will find all the details of our very rich 3-day programme. Specifically, you will learn about our 50+ speakers traveling near and far to share their expertise and perspectives with us, and about the remarkable Keynotes that will animate and set the tone for our discussions.

You will read about the interesting Study Visits that will lead participants at the discovery of some of Helsinki's key cultural institutions, and learn about the contents of ENCATC's classic yearly sessions: the Policy Debate, the Global Conversation, as well as a very rich series of Members Talks composing this year's Members Forum.

You will also discover what the annual Education and Research Session and Young and Emerging Researchers' Forum have in store for us this year, and you will plunge in the distinctive and prestigious atmosphere of the ENCATC Research Award and the ENCATC Award for Outstanding Contribution to cultural management, education, research, and policy, celebrating excellence in our sector.

Don't miss out on this read, providing all you need to know about ENCATC's most important annual event and cornerstone conference in the field of cultural management and policy. If you are not able to join us this year, take a look inside to mark your calendar for our upcoming 2024 Congress!

Yours truly,
